

Michael Eversmeyer Promise Award

Pittsburgh Peabody High School

Tansy Michaud

Propel Andrew Street High School Students

Michael Eversmeyer Promise Award

Named for longtime Pittsburgh preservationist and architect, Michael Eversmeyer, the "Promise Award" is YPA's premiere award for recognizing emerging leadership in the field of historic preservation. Young people are our region's future, and this award highlights those who make a difference in our communities.

The award will go to one person, organization or place that is undertaking a new (with most of the work being done within the past two years) preservation initiative that represents great promise for advancing historic preservation in southwestern Pennsylvania. Nominations can be sent to youngpreservationist@gmail.com.

The 2011 award will be presented at YPA's Preservation Month Celebration in May.

For more information, visit www.youngpreservationists.org

Promise Award Winners

- 2005: The Union Project, Highland Park
- 2006: Honorable John Fetterman, Mayor of Braddock
- 2007: Sandee Umbach, Director, Wash Arts, Washington, PA
- 2008: Tansy Michaud, Student, Norwin High School
- 2009: Dawn R. Webb Turner, Teacher, Homewood
- 2010: Students at Propel Andrew Street High School, Munhall
- 2011: Students at Pittsburgh Peabody High School, Highland Park

